

Unless you have a screensaver, or Desktop Wallpaper (background picture), your DESKTOP probably looks something like this. The icons (little pictures) represents "shortcuts" to the commands that launch, or start, programs. Not all of your programs will have icons on the Desktop. There would be too many. However, you can select which programs to display on the Desktop (usually the ones that you use the most).

SHORTCUTS (Program Icons)

To launch (start) a program, double click with the LEFT mouse button on the SHORTCUT icon that represents that program. If the program is not represented by a Shortcut icon on the Desktop, then launch the program from the START Menu, by clicking on the START button.
